COUNCIL GRANTS FRANCHISE TO NEW TROLLEY

Proposed Company which Intends to Run Line from McSherrystown Here Gets Franchise Entering Town by way of York and Hanover Streets. Will Lay the "T" Rail.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Gettysburg Town Council held on Tuesday evening a franchise was granted to a proposed trolley company represented by W. H. Landis, of the Hanover and McSherrystown Street Railway Company. The franchise provides for the line entering Gettysburg at the Eastern boundary of town about 2,000 feet south of the Bonneauville bridge. From there it runs through the lands of S. McC. Swope, W. C. Sheely, D. M. Wolf, W. T. Ziegler and E. P. Sachs, to Hanover street which it strikes 1,000 feet from the Rock Creek bridge. The line then runs straight up Hanover street and York street to a point 60 feet West of the line dividing York street and Centre Square.

The trolley people originally asked for a franchise allowing them to run to the centre of the Square but it was found impossible to grant this owing to the privilege granted to Post 9 many years ago of erecting a monument, in a plot at the middle of the "diamond", to the Adams Countians who saw service in the Civil War.

CONDITIONS OF FRANCHISE

The franchise was given on certain conditions, of which the principal were the following:

In the first place it provided for only a single track, though allowing whatever turnouts, switches and sidings are necessary.

The company will have to maintain the street between the rails and for twenty four inches on each side of the tracks and between all turnouts and switches and the main track; the same material to be used as the streets on which the line is constructed. It was strongly intimated by several of the members of council that the paving of York and Hanover streets in the near future is a possibility and in this event the trolley people will have to pave also.

The rails are to be laid and kept level with the surface of the street. The track is to be of the standard "T" rail type provided however that whenever council decides to pave streets the standard form of rail as stipulated by council shall be laid by the trolley company before paving begins.

The line is to be laid according to the uniform grade recently given by Engineer Pratt. Poles are to be of uniform quality and are to be erected under the supervision of council. The wires are to be eighteen feet above the tracks.

The franchise is also granted on the condition that a charter be obtained by the proposed company within one year from granting, that work on the line be started within six months of granting of charter and that it be finished within six months after the time it is started. As the rights secured from several other towns were given some time ago and expire unless a charter is obtained before the end of the year it is expected that the company will get the necessary document within the next few months. As the road must be completed within the year after charter is granted, it is the expectation of the company to have the line completed by the fall of 1910.

The borough reserved the right to go under and over all parts of the line with pipes, wires, etc., agreeing to leave tracks in same condition as found.

The franchise was granted after several hours' careful deliberation and received the votes of all the councilmen except Messrs. Kitzmiller and Foutz.

ONE DISSIDENT VOICE

Mr. Kitzmiller objected to the granting of the franchise before the sale of the Gettysburg Transit Company, claiming that it would give the proposed company too much advantage over the bidders at next Wednesday's sale. Mr. Keith, representing the proposed company, stated that they wanted the franchise before the sale because without it they would not feel justified in bidding on the local property since they did not want it unless they could enter Gettysburg with the new road. Mr. Kitzmiller stated that after the sale of the Transit Company property he would be perfectly willing to vote for the franchise but refused to before the sale. Mr. Foutz was absent. The ordinance having received the three fourths vote required was declared passed.

OTHER BUSINESS

J. D. Lippy appeared before council asking for relief on account of conditions caused by no sewer on East Middle street extended. Edward Swope appeared for the same purpose. Council decided to employ an engineer to see what can be done to remedy conditions.

Several complaints regarding grade matters were received and referred to the Highway Committee.

The ordinance regarding the recent uniform grade was adopted.

West Middle street was ordained from West street westward to the borough limits.

The Chambersburg pike was ordained to the borough limits to the width of 56 feet. Buford street to be the name.

The bond of the Keystone Electric Light, Heat and Power Company was accepted.

Two new crossings were ordered made at the new High School building.

Secretary was notified to order large stone removed from pavement in front of Pitzer House and to order the bulletin boards removed from trees in front of Walter Theatre.

Secretary was given authority to notify all property owners to build pavements as soon as he is given names by Highway Committee.

Adjournment.

MR. HARRIMAN IS IMPROVING

Financier's Condition Not as Serious as Reported.

REPORTERS TAKEN TO HOUSE

Dr. Lyle Said Emphatically There Was No Cause For Alarm and Mr. Harriman Had Had No Change For the Worse.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 8.—After a night of uncertainty it was determined that E. H. Harriman is not in such a critical condition as earlier reports indicated. A party of newspaper men succeeded in reaching the Harriman house and in talking with Dr. Lyle, who said emphatically that there was no cause for alarm and that Mr. Harriman had had no change for the worse.

A glimpse of the inside of the Harriman home seemed to bear out Dr. Lyle's statement that the financier's condition was not critical. Miss Carroll Harriman and the physician were sitting on a sofa laughing over a photograph, and Mrs. Harriman could be seen in an adjoining room. All three were in evening dress, and there was no sign of any other physicians about. Dr. Lyle said that no further information concerning Mr. Harriman would be given out, but that a statement would be issued from the Union Pacific offices in New York today. This is the first time that any newspaper men have ever actually reached the Harriman home, as it is impossible to pass the guards on the mountainside.

A rumor gained circulation that the financier had died in a sudden collapse. Where this rumor came from no one could say, but with the difficulty of obtaining communication with the Harriman home it was given wide circulation, and had spread on the wings of the wind from the Atlantic to the Pacific before a terse denial over the telephone from Dr. Lyle set it at rest.

The portion of the New York statement which spoke of Mr. Harriman's business enemies gained special significance when it was learned that certain Wall Street interests have a representative here whose only duty is to report on what transpires on Tower Hill. The marked slump in Union Pacific is largely accounted for by the belief that the reports of this representative upheld the most sensational newspaper bulletins.

GORED BY MAD BULL

The bull is a prize Ayrshire, weighing about 1000 pounds.

Killed in Auto Wreck.
Egg Harbor, N. J., Sept. 8.—Harry L. Medler, secretary of the A. J. Medlar Baking Company, Limited, of Philadelphia, was thrown from an automobile and had his neck broken here. He was killed instantly. He was returning from Atlantic City with his wife and two friends, when the machine skidded and hit a tree by the side of the road. The other occupants were also thrown out, but escaped with slight injuries.

HANDS CRACKED RAW AND SCALY

Itched and Burned Terribly—Arms Affected, Too—Could Not Move Thumbs Without Flesh Cracking—Sleep and Work Often Impossible—Was Fairly Worn Out.

CUTICURA SOON CURED HIS FEARFUL ECZEMA

"About a year ago an itching humor began to appear around the back of my hand. It started in to spread, and pretty soon it covered both my hands and got up over my wrist and even up to the elbows. The itching and burning were terrible. My hands got all scaly and when I scratched, as I was doing a good part of the time, the surface would be covered with blisters and then get raw. The eczema got so bad in around the pit of my thumbs that I could not move the thumbs without deep cracks appearing. I went to my doctor, but his medicine could only stop the itching and did not seem to heal my hands up at all. At night I suffered so fearfully that I could not sleep, often lying awake until well toward morning when I would get up and say, 'I am a chief and steward by trade and I had to give up my place, as my hands were so terrible to look at that they did not like to have me around about the appendage. A more particular description of the disease can be obtained by examination of the said decree on file at the office of the said West End Trust Company."

WORLD WAITING FOR PEARY'S OWN STORY

Daring Explorer Homeward Bound From the North Pole on the Steamer Roosevelt—No Further Details of Trip in Arctic Has Been Received.

New York, Sept. 8.—Robert E. Peary, having "nailed the Stars and Stripes to the pole," on April 6, 1909, as told in his series of messages flashed by wireless from the coast of Labrador, is figuratively lost to the world, homeward bound on his ship, the Roosevelt.

At Copenhagen, Denmark, royalty continues to pay homage to Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Brooklyn explorer, who announced six days ago in a manner not unusual to Commander Peary's that he had unfurled the flag of his country at the pole on April 21, 1908. Neither saw indications of the other's achievement; both will be in the United States before the close of the present month.

Commander Peary on the Roosevelt, according to best reckoning, was in the vicinity of the Strait of Belle Isle, between Newfoundland and the Province of Quebec last night. But it is uncertain at what port he will touch first to amplify the meager news. Inadequate telegraphic facilities on the Labrador coast and the northwest coast of Newfoundland may move him to decide to proceed on southward to North Sydney, Cape Breton, before he gives to the world details of his triumph in the far north.

Commander Peary had intended stopping at Chateau Bay, Labrador, but the telegraph station there was abandoned some time ago, and the Roosevelt must push her nose farther south before the world obtains the news. As she comes down the Newfoundland coast, Red Bay and further south, St. George Bay, are at hand, but whether Peary will avail himself of these points or continue to North Sydney, where he will have every facility at hand, is a matter of conjecture.

Mrs. Peary Ready to Start North.

With her husband's plans uncertain and with no specific message to meet him, Mrs. Peary is waiting at her home at Eagle Island, Maine, in readiness to depart for North Sydney.

Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, left for North Sydney. In addition to greetings from the Peary Arctic club, Mr. Bridgman carries this message from the Explorers club, of which Commander Peary and Dr. Cook are both members:

"The Explorers club sends you heartiest congratulations upon your triumphant attainment of the long sought goal—the North Pole."

Several additional messages filed at Indian Harbor, were received by associates of Commander Peary, but none of them give any further details of his conquest. Through Mr. Bridgman he notified all geographic societies of the world of his discovery, and in addition sent a personal dispatch to the National Geographical society at Washington, saying: "Have won at last. The pole is ours."

Thousands of Congratulatory Messages

In a message to Director Bumpus, of the American Museum of Natural History, in New York, he announced that he is bringing home a valuable collection for the institution. Thousands of congratulatory messages have been sent in return to the explorer, two of the most notable of which are from Lieutenant Shackleton, the English Antarctic explorer, and Major Leonard Darwin, president of the Royal Geographical society.

In Copenhagen Dr. Cook was shown a statement credited to Peary, that he (Peary) was the first discoverer of the pole. Declining to enter into a controversy, the Brooklyn physician briefly dismissed the subject.

The tooting of whistles of passing craft paid tributes to the explorer's wife on her island home, while his "Snow Baby" daughter acknowledged them by dipping an American flag.

FEAST FOR 3 EXPLORERS

Peary, Cook and Shackleton May Be Brought Together in This Country.

Washington, Sept. 8.—"Have won at last. The pole is ours," was the laconic message that reached the National Geographical society from Commander Robert E. Peary as a report to the society which contributed to the Peary expedition. The message was dated at Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray. The board of managers of the society met, and through President Willis L. Moore and Secretary O. P.
Austin telegraphed the following reply:

"Commander Robert E. Peary, Chateau Bay, Labrador.

"In answer to your telegraphic report to this society that you have reached the North Pole, the National Geographical society through the action of its board of managers extends to you its heartiest congratulations on your great achievement."

Then the board voted to defer taking any further action pending formal inspection of the records.

What promises to be the most brilliant banquet in the annals of the Geographical society will be held next winter. It is proposed, with the North Pole discoverers—Cook and Peary—and the British explorer who penetrated farthest south in seeking the South Pole—Lieutenant Shackleton—as the star figures.

Dr. O. P. Tittman, the head of the United States coast and geodetic survey, is already on his way to England bearing the informal invitation of the society to Cook and Shackleton.
Peary's exploit had not become known when Superintendent Tittman sailed last Saturday, but he will be advised to include Peary on the banquet program. Lieutenant Shackleton is now in England, and the other two explorers will soon be back in America.

PEARY IN BEST OF HEALTH

Cheering of Comrades Visibly Affected the Daring Explorer.

Indian Harbor, Labrador, via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 8.—Despite his many hardships in the Arctic regions Commander Robert E. Peary appears to be in the best of health and spirits. He is enthusiastic over his success in reaching the goal for which he has so long striven. When told that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had reported finding the pole, those on board the steamer Roosevelt expressed surprise, but declined to make any statement other than that no traces of any previous expedition had been found.

When Commander Peary returned to the Roosevelt from the far north and announced that he had been successful in finding the pole there was great rejoicing on board the ship. The whole crew assembling on deck to welcome the daring explorer and cheering him to the echo. The scene was a memorable one. Commander Peary appearing to be visibly affected by the warmth of the reception.

DR. COOK LECTURES BEFORE ROYALTY

Explorer is Also Presented With a Gold Medal.

Copenhagen, Sept. 8.—One of the most remarkable results of Commander Peary's rivalry with Dr. Cook for the discovery of the pole is that Dr.
Cook's profits from the enterprise are likely to be largely increased. He received offers for his books and lectures at twice the figures previously tendered. One American, of the highest standing, cabled terms almost startling and far beyond any sum hitherto paid for such work. Dr. Cook is likely to accept this offer.

The controversy is beginning to wax warmer here. Commander Peary's statement is unanimously accepted as true, but there is a very large following faithful to Dr. Cook. His lecture before the Geographical society last night, however, added little to the information he had already given out with reference to his expedition, and he repeated the declaration of his intention to withhold details until the publication of his book.

The king and queen, Prince and Princess George of Greece and many of the members of the royal family together with a large gathering of the most prominent people in Copenhagen, witnessed the presentation to Dr.
Cook of a gold medal by the crown prince and listened to the explorer's lecture afterwards.

Standing in front of an immense map of the Arctic regions, which was surmounted by the Stars and Stripes, Dr.
Cook outlined his progress for the North Pole. In introducing the explorer, the crown prince said that his reception in Greenland and at Copenhagen showed the way the Danes appreciated his wonderful exploit. The prince then begged the honor of presents to him the medal of the Geographical society. Dr. Cook told his story coolly and without hesitation, but most of his statements had been given out before. He cleared up the doubts about the lowest temperature recorded, which he reiterated was 83 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. He said he had no doubt that the observations made would prove that he had been on and around the ninetieth degree.

When shown the dispatch which said that Commander Peary claimed to be the first man to reach the North Pole, Dr. Cook said: "Commander Peary, of course, can say whatever he wishes. I am not accustomed to indulge in controversies. All I have to say about Commander Peary is that if he says he reached the North Pole I believe he reached the North Pole."

Charged With Land Conspiracy.

New York, Sept. 8.—George W.
Dolly, Rufus Ireland, Wilberforce Sly and Frank T. Wells were arrested here by United States Marshal Henkel charged with conspiracy in defrauding the government out of 1760 acres of coal lands in Lander, Wyoming. The prisoners were arraigned before United States Commissioner Gilchrist and held in $5000 bail for examination.

KILLED MOTHER TO HIDE THEFTS

Pottsville Suicide Left Letter Confessing Dastardly Crime.

INTENDED TO KILL FATHER

Decided to End His Own Life After Failing in Second Murder — Had Robbed His Parents Since He Was Ten Years Old.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 8.—A lengthy confession by George Simon in his own handwriting, written en route to Birdsboro, after the failure of an attempt to kill his father, has come to light, clearing up the crime of the murder of his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Simon, and the subsequent suicide of himself.

Young Simon says that he killed his mother by shooting her through the head in order to conceal the fact that he had been systematically robbing her and his father since he was ten years old, until they, unknown to themselves, had not a cent in the world. He further confesses that he intended to kill his father with a hatchet while he slept and then saturate the bed and the building with oil and conceal his crime by setting the house on fire.

Lost His Nerve.

He entered his father's room several nights after the killing of his mother, but the parent was awakened and ordered the youth from his room. He says that when this attempt failed he determined to leave his father unharméd and to instead take his own life. He went to Birdsboro to see his sweetheart, Miss Viola Hartrant, of Pottsville, who was visiting there, to bid her farewell before shooting himself. His nerve evidently failed him and he returned to Pottsville with the girl. His confession goes no further than up to the time he left the train at Birdsboro.

The message from the dead is a pathetic one, pleading for forgiveness and expressing the opinion that "when my darling learns of this it will kill her." Part of the letter, which covers twelve foolscap pages, is addressed to his father. He says that his downfall commenced when he was ten years of age and commenced to steal pennies and then nickels and dimes from his mother's purse. This led to bigger thefts until finally, at the age of thirteen, he forged his father's name to a check and drew a large sum of money.
This was continued until the father's bank account was exhausted. After that the money given to him to deposit was kept by himself instead of being taken to the bank.

Decided on Murder to Hide Robbery.

He kept money given to him by his father to put in a saving fund and also that of a friend of his father's, which he was supposed to deposit monthly for him. When every cent the parents owned had been squandered he decided to hide the robbery from them by taking their lives and making their home their funeral pyre.

"After the killing of my sainted mother I repented and tried to consecrate my soul to God and it was then that I determined to spare my father's life and take my own."

It was when police officers found him at the home of his sweetheart, after the finding of the decomposed body of his mother in a spare room, the door of which had been screwed shut after the body had been covered with quicklime and disinfectant, that Simon shot himself. He had not been suspected of the murder of his mother up to that time.

Schaeffer, the convicted murderer of the cause of the tragedy.

BLANKETS & WINTER COTTONS

Persons who study market conditions and have watched the market on raw cotton and wool for the last year or so, will appreciate the possibility of being able to produce all heavy cotton and wool fabrics out of 1908 raw materials at less price than if loomed from 1909 materials.

Last May we placed contracts for about 350 pairs of Cotton and Wool Blankets, as also for great quantities of Outings, Domets, Cantons, Flannels, and other Winter fabrics—including Underwear, at prices based on 9 1/4 cent cotton and 23 cent wool.

The present price on raw stock, to which must be added increased cost of labor, makes our prices on these lines much less than if contracted for now.

As the variety is so large we are unable to give prices on these lines in this Ad.

We are at all times forward for our customers when, in our judgment, it pays them for us to be so.

We open our Fall campaign with probably a better stock than ever before.

Coal is Money— Save It!

Every time you put coal on the fire, just remember that you are shoveling money. Don't waste it! If you have one of those old-fashioned hot-air coal eaters, you can save half of your usual coal bills, and at the same time have more heat, distributed evenly from first floor to attic, at all hours, no matter how cold the weather.

MODEL Heating System

Saves coal because it burns it thoroughly and circulates every bit of the heat through the house. Saves your time, because it almost runs itself. Makes very few ashes, and those few are fine and white—no clinkers or black coals. The safest, simplest, most economical heating system, as proved in thousands of homes. Steam or hot water.

LEDOM Range

Makes a big fire with a little coal. Gets all the heat out of coal, leaving only fine white ashes. No need to sift ashes if you have a Ledom. Fire always fine for broiling, keeps the water tank hot, and has a big oven that keeps hot all through. The best range that can be made.

DIFFERENCE IN COWS.

Distinction Found by Weighing and Testing Milk.

In discussing cow testing associations in a meeting of Canadian dairy-men a speaker said:

I went to a factory and attended their oyster supper. After it was over I looked over their books. I went to the man that had the best yield per cow in the factory, and then I got the second best man. Finally I went to the smallest man in the factory and asked him what his ideas were.

He was getting only $16 or $17 per cow, and I said to him, "How is business this year?" He said, "We are getting fine prices." The blessed fellow was not getting enough to pay for the feed of his cows, yet he was happy on account of the price being high.

We put these three men's names on the blackboard. One was getting $67 per cow, the other $40 and the other $17, and that was a lesson for the people of that district. We must weed out the poor, unprofitable cows and keep good ones, and the only way to do it is by weighing and testing their milk.

Horse Talk.

The young colt should be taught before weaning time to eat grain with its dam. When this is done the weaning can be accomplished with greater ease and more safety.

The most important matter in the management of the colt is to keep it growing.

Thousands of colts every year are doomed to the "misfit class" and to become of no special value because of underfeeding. Complete development can only come from generous feeding.

There must always be a proper combination of concentrated and bulky food.

The colt should be weaned at from five to seven months, according to circumstances.

Boiled flaxseed in small quantities is a sure remedy for constipation.

Flaxseed fed carefully will keep the colt's coat in fine condition, bowels free and will promote an even development to the muscles of the legs and the whole body.

A skillful feeder will study a combination of foods as well as a change of food. If a feeder has never tried it he will be surprised to find how eager a horse is for a change of food.

The colt should be handled from the first week of its life, but there should be no roughness in handling it.

There is much to be gained by controlling the colt from day to day.

When it has learned to have implicit confidence in man the foundation is laid for the development of a safe and useful animal.

If horses could speak, how they would beg for a drop of water these long, hot days! They can't, so we beg for them.

Many kinds of unsoundness we may cure by care, but the unsoundness which is born in a horse is hard to wrestle with.

Handling Lambs in England.

Writing of the methods of caring for sheep in England, a breeder says: The Hampshire are kept in large flocks, many breeders keeping from 1,000 to 2,000 breeding ewes, and they are handled on tares, vetches, kale, etc., and the lambs run a day ahead of the ewes—that is, the plot that the ewes are running on adjoins another in which the lambs may go through a creep, and they certainly take advantage of it, and the way they thrive is ample proof of the good points of this method. The hurdles are moved daily, so that the lambs are on a new plot every day. Under this management the old ewes are in good flesh even when nursing the lambs. The Hampshire lambs are dropped in January and February.

Fat Stock at County Fairs.

This year a few county fairs are offering prizes for fat stock as well as for breeding animals. The boys should spot these fairs and have something ready to show. Of course it is rather late now to get cattle for them, but not too late to get lambs and pigs ready if they are in good flesh now and the fair is not held too early. The fair associations should not be discouraged if their first offer of prizes does not attract a large show. If they will repeat it for a few years they will have a show which will be worth seeing and which will help their fairs by interesting more people in them.

A Lamb Club.

About thirty years ago in a little town fifteen miles north of Nashville there was organized the Goodlettsville Lamb and Wool club, which has been in active operation ever since. The club has fifty members and markets about 2,000 lambs each year. In 1907 the first draft of lambs was delivered June 20 at 6½ cents per pound, while in 1908 the delivery was made May 26 at 7 cents per pound. These prices are at least one-half cent higher than those obtained by farmers in adjoining communities, who are outside of the club.

Selection of Sheep.

Before starting in the breeding of sheep the farmer should have a definite object in view and make a careful selection of the foundation stock. If it is intended to produce wool the Merino should be chosen. If mutton is the chief object one of the larger breeds would be best. If it is desired to produce both wool and mutton a judicious crossbred or grade may be selected. But in any case the start should be begun on a small scale and cautiously proceeded with, never forgetting that the "ram is half of the flock."

THE GRURING VILLA.

By F. A. MITCHEL.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

"Whose is that villa?" asked a tourist, pointing to a residence on the Lake of Como. The person questioned replied by a story. And this is the story:

Two men stood on the steamboat landing at Menaggio, on the northern shore of the lake. Herman Trupp, the elder, said to the other, a youngster of twenty:

"Martin, I have something to say to you. You know how near us is the boundary line of Switzerland. Well, for years I have been smuggling goods over the border to the lake and once across it have had no trouble in selling them in Italy. But the government revenue boat which they have recently put on the lake turned its searchlight on me last night while pulling a boat load from shore to shore. I was stopped and arrested. I will be tried, fined and imprisoned. I made a mistake. I should have divided my profits with the revenue officers."

"Well?" said the other.

"You wish to marry Sophie Reusser, but you and she are both too poor to marry. I will enable you to wed. I have bribed the officers to give me but six months' imprisonment and to accept a substitute. If you will serve my term for me I will give you 5,000 francs."

Martin Gruring was thoughtful for a time, then said, "I will talk with Sophie about it."

"That I must forbid," said Trupp. "I would not trust a woman with such an important secret."

"But what will she think?"

"Oh, you can tell her you are going away for a short time to earn the wherewithal to set up housekeeping."

The result of this proposal was that Martin acted as Trupp's substitute in prison, first telling Sophie the story that had been suggested. He had no sooner been imprisoned than Trupp told Sophie that her lover was deceiving her—that he had committed a crime for which he was being punished. To prove what he said he took her to the prison where Martin was confined and showed her her lover behind bars. Then he held his wealth, 500,000 francs, up before her as a bait and succeeded in catching her for his wife. Soon after the marriage the couple disappeared from the Como region.

One summer an elderly American gentleman and his wife rode up in their automobile to a hotel in Interlaken, Switzerland, and called for a guide. One was introduced, and the American engaged him to conduct himself and wife to the summit of the Jungfrau. Then the landlord said that he had been a mountaineer in his youth and only one guide was needed. He would himself act as such. The party after proceeding on the mountain railway to the snow line started from there to make the ascent of the peak, the guide in front, the lady next, and the husband in the rear, all bound together by a rope.

At one place in the ascent their path led along the edge of a rock that sloped nearly straight downward on both sides. Suddenly beneath the American's feet the ice gave way and he went down. His wife fell on her face, and the guide, realizing that she would be pulled down by her husband, let himself over the other side for a balance. Suspended thus he at once set about cutting steps and soon secured a foothold. But the American was a heavy man and the rope was greatly strained. At one point it crossed a sharp rock and the efforts of the man hanging over the chasm to save himself gradually wore it thin, and at last it broke. He slid down thousands of feet below to his death.

Meanwhile the guide, foreseeing what must eventually happen, and knowing that when the rope broke the shock might dislodge the lady, had been backing the ice with his ax and climbing until he had secured a firm position. When the rope parted she fell toward him, and, catching her, he lifted her again into position. Then, when she was sufficiently recovered to stand, he cut his way up to the edge of the rock and the two began to descend. Reaching a point of safety, the lady fell in a faint. The guide caught her in his arms. Placing his flask—all guides carry flasks—to her lips, she revived and met the two eyes of the guide looking down into hers. But she saw only the horror of her husband suspended over that awful abyss. She shuddered and moaned.

"Sophie," said the guide with a word of sympathy.

There was something in the voice that, striking a familiar chord, served to turn her vision from the horror so recently experienced. She saw a young face grown to middle age. Then the expression of pain returned, but this time from a different cause. She saw the lover of her youth as she had seen him in a felon's prison. He divined her thought.

"Do you know," he said, "that I went to prison voluntarily to serve the term of another?"

"No. How term?"

"Never mind that. To take the place of a smuggler I was paid a sum of money which would have enabled us to marry."

Another look of infinite pain passed over her face. Instinctively she knew the story as it has been told. The guide took her by the hand to lead her down; but, seeing that she was unequal to the task, he took her in his arms and carried her to the railway station. Then, after a brief rest, they proceeded to Interlaken.

Later, as husband and wife, with the Trupp fortune they built the Gruring villa.

A HAIR DRESSING

That is Guaranteed to Make Women's Hair Lustrous and Beautiful, or Your Money Back.

Women of culture want a perfect hair dressing; one that is delicately scented and that will make the head feel better the minute it is put on. They want a dressing that is not sticky or greasy.

And above all they want a dressing that will make the hair lustrous and fascinating; that will kill the dandruff germs and banish dandruff, and that will stop falling hair and itching scalp.

Parisian Sage, now sold in America, will do all these things, or money back. That's the offer the People's drug store makes after investigating the merits of Parisian Sage.

A large bottle only costs 50 cents, and leading druggists everywhere sell it. The girl with the Auburn hair on bottle.

"Parisian Sage rids the scalp and hair of dandruff, makes the growth of hair profuse, and leaves a silky, fluffy, luxuriant appearance. We are glad to endorse the use of Parisian Sage."—John Null, 31 108th Street, Wheeling, W. Va.

Parisian Sage keeps the head cool in Summer, and drives away disagreeable odors arising from perspiration.

Some experiments which have been conducted by the department of agriculture have made clear the important fact that the work of insects, and especially the borer known as the "sawyer," may be very greatly reduced if the bark of such trees is removed within a month after being blown over or if they are cut into logs without removing the bark and placed in ponds or streams. In the case of timber which is allowed to lie with the bark on it has been found that its value is reduced about one-third within a period of two months. When so much attention is being given to a conservation of our forest resources, a suggestion of this kind ought to be well received by those whom it most directly concerns.

One of the most deplorable sights which the traveler through the west sees is large areas of fertile mountain slopes which have been denuded of their magnificent growth of conifers by the deadly fumes of copper smelteries or the terrible forest fires set by sparks from passing trains, by the campfire of careless hunter or axman or by revengeful Indians who have sought by this means to debar the white hunter from a territory over which its primal owner could no longer hold sway. So intense have been some of these fires that not only the giants of the forest have been killed and in many cases half burned by the conflagration, but all seeds and seedlings destroyed, which will prevent reforestation except by artificial planting. In most cases the land referred to is too rough and steep for tillage, so it is doomed to idleness until such time as systematic planting is undertaken.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: J. E. ### THE STORY OF THE WEALTHY.

The Wealthy apple, which is one of the finest of the fall varieties both in color, texture and flavor, has an interesting history. It is said that in the year 1853 Peter Gideon, at that time a resident of Clinton, Ill., moved to Minnesota, settling in the vicinity of Lake Minnetonka. He had been interested in horticulture and his first experiments along this line consisted in planting some thirty varieties of apple trees together with a few pear, plum and cherry trees, as well as a considerable quantity of apple seeds and peach pits. By 1863, in spite of good care, the severe winters had killed all of his fruit trees but one seedling crab. With the labor of years gone for nothing, Mr. Gideon found himself with a large family, a cow, a few chickens and only $8 with which to finance affairs, and that in the face of a hard winter. This money that by good right should have been spent to replace the tattered rags which covered his body he sent to Bangor, Me., for seeds and scions of apples. The old suit which he patched up to last over winter and the sacrifice he made at the time were not in vain, for it was from this purchase of Maine seeds that the Wealthy apple came, the growing of which in the intervening years has meant millions of dollars to horticulturists over the country. The apple was named from Mr. Gideon's wife, whose maiden name was Wealthy Hall. While it is believed by many that this splendid apple was a cross between some common apple and the cherry crab, it is thought by others to have been a chance seedling of unknown parentage. Mr. Gideon did no scientific work, yet he can only be viewed as a benefactor of mankind. The prize of $1,000 offered by the Minnesota Horticultural society for a winter apple which is as hardy, as beautiful in external appearance and as full of juice and fine of flavor as is the Wealthy for its season is still unclaimed. Horticulturists of a scientific turn of mind have here not only a chance to win a substantial financial reward but the everlasting gratitude of their own and succeeding generations.

It is wages spent for things that are either useless or harmful more largely than the injustice of economic conditions under which men labor that are responsible for the most abject types of poverty to be found in this and other countries. And yet they are factors which the average student of our social and economic ills is wont almost entirely to overlook.

The young calf before it reaches the age of a month may be easily dehorned, prevented from having horns, by rubbing caustic potash on the skin just over the embryo horn. The hair should be removed immediately over the spot and the caustic rubbed on till the skin is pink. Care should be taken not to have the chemical come in contact with the hands, as it will burn the skin.

A Nebraska town has inaugurated lately a very practical type of church union or ecumenism. An enterprising lady of the Episcopal faith is the prime mover in the good work. A Roman Catholic altar, permitted by special dispensation of the pope, is fenced in at one end of the church; an Episcopal altar is at the other end, with reversible seats between in the body of the church. Besides the faiths mentioned, Congregationalists and Methodists also use the building, with seats arranged to suit the taste and with sermons delivered from the north or south end, as the case may be. This signifies considerable progress along the line of church union, but somehow or other these good people, with those of other denominations, ought to fix it up somehow so they can all face and march in the same direction. It is this facing in different directions which has been the chief weakness of religious organizations for the past 500 years. Perhaps a better time is at hand.

FT. WAYNE IND., ON FIRE With Enthusiasm over a Wonderful Discovery

A well known scientist recently introduced to the people of Ft. Wayne a discovery resulting from years of hard study, extensive travel and much experimenting that has become the talk of thousands and has set that city on fire with enthusiasm over the many wonderful things it has done. Scores of people who have suffered for years with some chronic ailment have been restored to perfect health after using this discovery a short while. The discovery is principally composed of a collection of roots that are soaked in hot water, then the juice is extracted from them. It is called Root Juice. Many say that the energizing effects of one swallow of the juice is almost instantaneous. It seems that it relieves almost any trouble of the stomach, bowels, kidneys and liver and that its soothing, healing and tonic action on the digestive and secretory organs is so rapid that even some of the worst cases of indigestion, constipation and nervousness, kidney troubles and rheumatism are perceptibly benefited from the very start.
